MR. WITTMER,

The Senior Class of 2016 honors you with this year's dedication.

After accompanying us on our 7th grade outdoor ed trip and serving as our class advisor for both our 9th and 10th grade years, each and every one of us has built an individual relationship with you. You have provided our grade with unconditional support. You taped countless Captain America balloons on the gym floor for our freshman Spirit Week entrance; you helped us finesse our writing skills; you've worked backstage on our shows. Watching us grow from the start of your Buckley career, you have built connections with many since middle school, some through advisory, and most because, according to you, we have creative, quiet, reserved, thoughtful, and wryly humorous personalities.

You ask us how we're doing and really care; you differentiate us from one another, and appreciate all of our varied qualities. You enjoy our sarcasm, you admire our inner strengths, and you have truly made an effort to know every single one of us.

We appreciate your hard work and dedication to us, so now we dedicate our final yearbook to you. Your passion will inspire us for the rest of our lives, and we thank you for all that you have done for us.

Sincerely,
The Senior Class of 2016
